

Educator Recognition Rhode Island District Teacher of the Year (DTOY)

Learn - Teach - Lead

Over the past several years the DTOY role has expanded to provide more opportunities for DTOYs to share their expertise, form collaborative learning communities with fellow DTOYs, and honor their success to inspire other educators.

As you nominate your DTOY, please keep the following DTOY 2017-2018 roles and responsibilities in mind:

2017-2018 DTOY opportunities include:

- NEW! Opportunity to serve as a liaison between your district and the RI Department of Education, sharing information about state initiatives and providing professional development as a teacher leader for your school, district, and community
- NEW! Opportunity to contribute a blog entry to the Commissioner's weekly Field Memo and the RIDE website
- Invitation and participation in the Educator Recognition Celebration
- The opportunity/invitation to join the DTOY professional development and leadership training cohort
- Guidance and support from veteran TOYs and opportunity to apply for State Teacher of the Year
- Opportunity to network with other DTOYs through social media (Twitter chats, Facebook groups) led by the current 2018 State TOY
- Opportunity to present on area/topic of expertise at local and state workshops and or conferences

Please complete the one page DTOY Profile Sheet on the educator who has been selected to represent your district for the 2017-2018 school year.

DTOY Profile sheet are due May 26, 2017.
