

What can I do to ensure my child succeeds in school and on the state assessments?

After reviewing your child's score reports, it is critical that you connect with your child's school by attending family-teacher conferences and discussing your questions and concerns with your child's teachers. Don't be afraid to speak up. Children whose families stress the value of education are more likely to find it important, as well.

- School attendance matters, every single day. Missing just two days of school a month is chronically absent, so make it a priority to get your child to school on time daily.
- Establish daily reading routines, let your child see you read, and encourage your child to read for fun all year long.
- Get involved and stay connected to your child's school, however and whenever you can.
- Share your voice! Help improve your child's school by participating in SurveyWorks every year (go to: <https://ride.ri.gov/information-accountability/ri-education-data/surveyworks>).
- Start a conversation. Ask questions. Talk to your child about what they're learning and show an interest in the subjects that excite them.

Remember, you are your child's first teacher, and you play an important role in setting your child up for success.

Did you know that establishing family routines can help your child succeed?

Make a habit of setting up designated times for homework, reading, mealtimes, family conversations, bedtime, and leaving for school each day.
