

Fun Family Activities

Support Young Children's Learning and Development at Home

The Rhode Island Department of Education has developed a valuable resource for parents, grandparents, foster parents, and other caregivers. It is a complete set of fun and easy activities that help support the learning and development of children ages birth to five.

The Fun Family Activities are:

- FREE
- Developed for families with children ages birth through five
- Based on the Rhode Island Early Learning and Development Standards
- Designed to help your child develop knowledge and skills that are important for school readiness

FREE Training on the Fun Family Activities is Available!

Training on the Fun Family Activities Cards is available throughout Rhode Island. The trainings are a series of hands on workshops, offered by an early childhood expert that provide a great opportunity to meet and learn from other parents, learn more about child development as well as gather additional state resources. The training is fun, interactive, and grounded in play. Parents will leave having developed a scrapbook as well as a full set of the cards. For a schedule of offerings please visit the website above.

For more information call (401) 270-0101.

Fun Family Activities

Support Young Children's Learning and Development at Home

The Rhode Island Department of Education has developed a valuable resource for parents, grandparents, foster parents, and other caregivers. It is a complete set of fun and easy activities that help support the learning and development of children ages birth to five.

The Fun Family Activities are:

- FREE
- Developed for families with children ages birth through five
- Based on the Rhode Island Early Learning and Development Standards
- Designed to help your child develop knowledge and skills that are important for school readiness

FREE Training on the Fun Family Activities is Available!

Training on the Fun Family Activities Cards is available throughout Rhode Island. The trainings are a series of hands on workshops, offered by an early childhood expert that provide a great opportunity to meet and learn from other parents, learn more about child development as well as gather additional state resources. The training is fun, interactive, and grounded in play. Parents will leave having developed a scrapbook as well as a full set of the cards. For a schedule of offerings please visit the website above.

For more information call (401) 270-0101.

Fun Family Activities

Support Young Children's Learning and Development at Home

The Rhode Island Department of Education has developed a valuable resource for parents, grandparents, foster parents, and other caregivers. It is a complete set of fun and easy activities that help support the learning and development of children ages birth to five.

The Fun Family Activities are:

- FREE
- Developed for families with children ages birth through five
- Based on the Rhode Island Early Learning and Development Standards
- Designed to help your child develop knowledge and skills that are important for school readiness

FREE Training on the Fun Family Activities is Available!

Training on the Fun Family Activities Cards is available throughout Rhode Island. The trainings are a series of hands on workshops, offered by an early childhood expert that provide a great opportunity to meet and learn from other parents, learn more about child development as well as gather additional state resources. The training is fun, interactive, and grounded in play. Parents will leave having developed a scrapbook as well as a full set of the cards.

For a schedule of offerings please visit the website above.

For more information call (401) 270-0101.

Fun Family Activities

Support Young Children's Learning and Development at Home

The Rhode Island Department of Education has developed a valuable resource for parents, grandparents, foster parents, and other caregivers. It is a complete set of fun and easy activities that help support the learning and development of children ages birth to five.

The Fun Family Activities are:

- FREE
- Developed for families with children ages birth through five
- Based on the Rhode Island Early Learning and Development Standards
- Designed to help your child develop knowledge and skills that are important for school readiness

FREE Training on the Fun Family Activities is Available!

Training on the Fun Family Activities Cards is available throughout Rhode Island. The trainings are a series of hands on workshops, offered by an early childhood expert that provide a great opportunity to meet and learn from other parents, learn more about child development as well as gather additional state resources. The training is fun, interactive, and grounded in play. Parents will leave having developed a scrapbook as well as a full set of the cards.

For a schedule of offerings please visit the website above.

For more information call (401) 270-0101.

Fun Family Activities

Support Young Children's Learning and Development at Home

The Rhode Island Department of Education has developed a valuable resource for parents, grandparents, foster parents, and other caregivers. It is a complete set of fun and easy activities that help support the learning and development of children ages birth to five.

The Fun Family Activities are:

- FREE
- Developed for families with children ages birth through five
- Based on the Rhode Island Early Learning and Development Standards
- Designed to help your child develop knowledge and skills that are important for school readiness

FREE Training on the Fun Family Activities is Available!

Training on the Fun Family Activities Cards is available throughout Rhode Island. The trainings are a series of hands on workshops, offered by an early childhood expert that provide a great opportunity to meet and learn from other parents, learn more about child development as well as gather additional state resources. The training is fun, interactive, and grounded in play. Parents will leave having developed a scrapbook as well as a full set of the cards. For a schedule of offerings please visit the website above.

For more information call (401) 270-0101.