Brief explanation of format (e.g., virtual, synchronous, asynchronous):
IMSE's 30-hour courses (Comprehensive Orton-Gillingham Plus and Morphology Plus) are taught both in person and virtually. Both formats include live, face-to-face teaching and interaction. The Morphology Plus Course materials include one year of free access to IMSE's Writing and Grammar Video Course (asynchronous).

IMSE's 50-hour practicums are asynchronous. Participants submit lesson plans and assignments to practicum supervisors via an online portal and also receive feedback via the portal.

Brief explanation of professional learning experience:

IMSE's Comprehensive Orton-Gillingham Plus and Morphology Plus Courses provide a complete understanding of IMSE's methodology and how to implement it in the classroom through hands-on, interactive learning. During a course training, instructors model components of the methodology throughout the week, and participants have opportunities to practice within the training environment. Participants will gain an understanding of the Science of Reading and Structured Literacy. They will receive training in all major areas of reading: phonological awareness, phonics, fluency, syllable division, vocabulary, morphology, and comprehension. Participants will also receive assessments and learn how to analyze assessment results to guide instruction. For more information regarding each course, please visit <https://imse.com/training-descriptions/>.

Upon completion of the 30-hour Comprehensive Orton-Gillingham Plus training, participants are eligible to apply for a practicum to show fidelity of implementation of the methodology. Participants will submit detailed, written lesson plans for 50 total hours of instruction, as well as videos, to the practicum portal. During the practicum experience, a practicum supervisor provides feedback and support throughout the process. For more information regarding the practicum experience, please visit <https://imse.com/certification/>.
